Letter or Email Response:

To Whom it may concern, As new residents of Redacted one of the primary reasons which influenced our decision to move here was the lovely open space. We have been fortunate enough to meet other residents in our local community who enjoy the open space as much as we do. We feel that Jessel Green is good for the community as it provides a safe space in which local activities can be enjoyed by many. In our short time living at Redacted, we have already seen how this space is used by the community, such as dog walking ,exercise groups, scheduled fun activities and also a space for the air ambulance to land in times of need (as was the case in October this year, when their services was required). Furthermore, as a university student, Jessel Green is a place where I can, escape too when I need a study break when writing my assignments. I am always more refreshed and ready to learn once I have taken a break from the stresses that accompany writing university assignments, by taking a walk around the open space of Jessel Green. We feel that building on this lovely, open, communal green space would have a negative impact on the local residents. It is a space which is cared for by the community and is a place which brings together all residents.
