Dear Sir/Madam

I have grown up using Jessel Green and would be sad to see it go. I am an ex-Hereward Primary School pupil and we often used the Green during school time, whether it be for education purposes or as a special trip to the playground area as a treat.

I still use the Green now and from where I live I see it in constant use. People walking their dogs, children playing, etc. If you build on it, where will the people who use it now go? I grew up playing on the Green as it is was a large, safe area on which to do so.

Please don't take the Green away from us; we love it.

Yours faithfully

Lily Hobbs
