Letter or Email Response:

I am contacting you regarding our objection to the proposed housing plans. One of the reasons we moved here was the wide open spaces. Especially after working in London all week. To be able to walk, take the children out to run and exercise is important not only for their development but for our mental well being as well. I am very concerned regarding the amount of people moving in and the pressure this will put on local gp's, schools, hospitals not to mention the roads coping with lots of extra traffic. We have just seen a reduction in fire engines covering our area, how are they going to cope with even more residents to deal with. I do hope you take in to consideration the local peoples feelings before passing your final decision.
